CHEAP LABOR.

Since the abolition of slavery in Cuba that country finds herself with a deficient labor supply, and the prohibition against the importation of free negroes is to be repealed. Yet there is not sufficient inducement to attract free white laborers from Europe to Cuba, and why? Because all her industries have been built up on a basis of cheap slave labor, and could not be maintained if the prices demanded by white laborers had to be paid. The recently enfranchised blacks have not yet acquired the needs and habits of intelligent free laborers, and their labor is little better compensated than it was when they were slaves. Free white laborers cannot go to Cuba and compete with the blacks, who now occupy about the same relation to the former that Chinese do to Americans and Europeans. Unrestricted Chinese immigration would in time produce in the United States the same conditions that now exist in Cuba, viz.: an insufficient supply of labor, and yet an inability to pay the rate of wages needed to support a laboring population in comfort.

Governor Irwin of Idaho, being asked, "Are Mormons indifferent to the laws of the United States?" replied, "Mormons are more disloyal to this government than the most uncivilized race on the face of the earth. In their processions they treat with contempt the flag of our country. They permit the stars and stripes to drag in the dust, and the oath taken in the Endowment House is worse than disloyal. It is infamous, and every syllable of it is impregnated with death to the Government of the United States."

Ned Marshall, the erratic Attorney-General of California, is always in trouble. He was recently put off a Sacramento horse-car because he refused to accept tickets in exchange for a two-bit piece. The spectacle of the Attorney-General of a sovereign State being bounced from a hobtail car—and a Sacramento hobtail at that—must have caused the angels in heaven to weep as they looked pityingly down. Marshall will sue the company for damages.

EASTERN DISPATCHES

The Long Star-route Trial Ended—The Jury Bring in a Verdict of Not Guilty.

WASHINGTON, June 14.
 "You can ask the jury whether they have any communication to make to the Court," said Judge Wylie to the crier, when the Criminal Court reassembled this morning. The crier soon returned with a message, that the jury desired to communicate with the Court. They filed into the room, not apparently the worse for their confinement. When they were seated the Judge said:
 "Gentlemen of the jury—The Court has sent for you for the purpose of inquiring whether you have any communication to make."

The foreman in reply stated that the jury had agreed upon a verdict, and a painful silence fell upon the court room only to be broken by wild shouts of applause when, in clear tones, the voice of the foreman called out the verdict of "Not Guilty." Immediately the decorum of the Court was forgotten and cheers resounded from all quarters of the crowded room. Mrs. S. W. Dorsey sprang to her feet, while tears streamed down her cheeks, and other ladies were silently weeping. Davidge asked to have the verdict recorded, which was done, while the deputy marshals were vainly endeavoring to quell the tumult. S. W. Dorsey and Brady were the recipients of warm congratulations, and as they left the court-room they were greeted with renewed cheers by the crowd in front of the City Hall. When order was restored, by reason of defendants and friends leaving the room, the Judge, with a few words, discharged the jury. In the ante-rooms and halls the jury was beset by a throng of interested persons, prominent among them being the defendants, Mrs. S. W. Dorsey and Miss Peck, who thanked them for their verdict with tears in their eyes. By the time the form reached the side-walk the large crowd assembled there burst into cheers, which were renewed as each juror made his way out of the Court-house. The foreman stated that five ballots were taken by the jury. The first ballot was upon the question of the existence of a conspiracy, and the ballot resulted in three for and nine against conspiracy; on the second ballot the nine was increased to ten, although the vote was then upon the innocence or guilt of defendants. This vote remained unchanged until about 8 o'clock this morning, when an acquittal was agreed upon.

A Non-Shoots and Kills the Murderer of His Father.
 UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 14.
 The shooting of N. L. Dukes last evening, the slayer of Captain A. C. Nutt, by the son of the latter, was the all-absorbing topic to-day. The excitement has completely subsided, however, and everyone, apparently, is breathing a sigh of relief, now that the last chapter has been added to the tragedy. The Coroner's jury resumed investigation this morning. Only one witness testified. Last night policeman Pegg testified that he was standing on Tremont corner when he heard a pistol shot fired; witness looked around and saw Dukes leaving the corner of Pittsburg street as the first shot was fired. As he looked in the postoffice door Nutt fired again. Three or four shots were fired before officer Pegg made the arrest. John R. Wilson testified as to being in front of the postoffice after the shots had been fired. Witness saw a man come around the corner and another after him; went to the postoffice door and there saw Dukes lying on the floor. The testimony of Lucius Martin was corroborative of the above. After hearing several more witnesses the jury returned with the following verdict:
 "We find that said Nicholas L. Dukes came to his death from wounds received from a revolver, fired in the hands of James Nutt, on the corner of Maine and Pittsburg streets, in Uniontown, on the 13th day of June, about the hour of 7:15 o'clock P. M."

The Chronicle of Uniontown says: A vile rumor became current here to-day through the instrumentality of Dukes' friends, that Mrs. Nutt, widow of Captain Nutt, had encouraged her son to attack and slay Dukes. It is stated on good authority that Dukes met young Nutt on the street and laughed in his face in a sneering manner and thus himself precipitated the tragedy.

Trial of the London Dynamite Conspirators.

LONDON, June 14.
 The trial of Dr. Gallagher, Bernard Gallagher, Whitehead, Cartin, Wilson and Ausberg was continued this morning. The court stated that it considered the evidence against Bernard Gallagher and Ausberg sufficient to be submitted to the jury. Justice Grove concurred in the decision, but without expressing an opinion as to the ultimate result. He thought there were grave doubts as to sufficient evidence against Ausberg. Clark, of counsel for defense, challenged the Crown to point to a single syllable of evidence given at the trial outside of that of former Lynch, which showed that the intention of the prisoners was to assail the authority of the Crown or to overthrow Parliament. He declared that Bernard Gallagher's statement contained no evidence against anybody but himself. Whitehead expressed a desire to address the jury himself, and his counsel therefore retracted.

The Importation of American Cattle in England.

LONDON, June 14.
 Lord Carlisle, Minister of Agriculture, received yesterday influential deputations representing towns of England claiming ten million people, the object of which was to protest against the restriction of the food supply. Carlisle stated that the decline of importation of American cattle was due to the fact that better prices are obtained in America, not to the system of compulsory slaughter at British ports. He said the Government continues to act up to the spirit of the present laws, and does not strain them in the direction of further restrictions, as urged by opponents of American cattle.

Old settlers say that they can hardly remember a year when there was so little snow on the hills as at this time. The result will be a lack of water in the streams. The Truckee is now running full, but will probably begin to shrink very soon.

The passengers on the west-bound express this morning congratulated themselves at the opportunity of crossing the mountains by daylight. The privilege of viewing the beautiful scenery is worth a good portion of their fare.

The newly discovered gold mines in Lower California are being rapidly deserted by the prospectors who recently went there. But the White House is not deserted. On the contrary, it is full of customers waiting for Abrams Bros. to fit them out with fine clothes.

The wind last evening was a terror to weak eyes. It seemed to blow at right angles, stirring up clouds of dust, and half-blinding pedestrians. It was to be expected, after the hot weather we have had. The air in the valley became heated, and the cold air from the mountains rushed in to take its place.

The train that should have arrived here last evening did not get here until 6 o'clock this morning. The delay was caused by a freight train, led by engine No. 90, that got derailed at Rose creek, about 11 miles this side of Winnemucca. The damage done was principally confined to getting the cars on the track again.

PEAVINE DISTRICT.

An Immense Body of Ore That Might be Profitably Worked. For ten years Peavine mining district has had a black eye, and for no good reason. It was, no doubt, tortured into inflated prominence by speculators, and afterward wrecked to abandonment by men who induced credulous capitalists to invest in chimerical experiments. The money spent in this district would have been sufficient, if judiciously used, to demonstrate the real value of its ore, of which there is an abundance.

Any person who views the wreck of things at Peavine, or Poedunk, as some call it, will at once conclude that there was something wrong with the "promoters" of the camp. At the Paymaster mine there is abundant evidence that thousands of dollars have been actually expended for nothing—thrown away. The great furnace is a monstrosity; in fact, for preparing that character of ore for successful reduction it does not come up to the grade of a possible fizzle, as it must necessarily leave the ore in a worse condition than ever, vitrifying the particles on the outside, so that the sulphur and arsenic, which are chiefly objectionable, are confined instead of being dispelled.

The ore is massive arsenical pyrites, such as Cornishmen call "mundic," and needs to be calcined by a steady heat for several hours that will not bring the material to more than a "cherry red." Then it will disintegrate, and be in good condition for thorough pulverization. With the application of a simple acid the noble metals it contains will readily submit to the attack of quicksilver, as in the ordinary free-milling process. Too much heat has been the bane of Peavine. The ore is there, and it contains gold and silver, in a combination of base metals so simple that any mill man who has ever "knocked his living out of the rocks" can succeed fully reduce it.

The Golden Fleece mine shows a large quantity of ore. For 300 feet, in a tunnel running along the eaves of the ledge, the solid pay-matter of the vein is from two to five feet wide, which can be blasted out in the same manner that a coal bank is worked.

Of eleven tests of the ore made in Reno, by working process, the lowest was $29 40 per ton, and the highest $80 50. All these tests were made of one-pound samples, and the results astonished those who made the experiments. There is doubtless a good future for Peavine. When some real practical man—not one who wears gold spectacles and talks Dutch—gets in there, and goes to work in a comprehensive manner, the district will come to the front.

A LIVE LANDLORD.

How Truckee's Floating Population is Provided For.

For its size, Truckee is probably the best hotel town in the country. In the Summer the Tahoe travel and the lumber and wood business fill the town with transients, and in the Winter everybody is driven out of the woods, the sawmills are shut down and Truckee is headquarters for all hands. The average lumberman is not fond of city life and prefers to spend his money as near where he earns it as he can find good accommodations. By Christmas the majority would find it rather inconvenient to pay cash for much travel and large hotel bills, so they wait for Spring to give them work. The hotel business in Truckee has been gradually going to Stewart McKay, who is both an enterprising and agreeable host. Mr. Sherritt's new hotel will be a fine and a large one, but Mr. McKay will be almost a monopolist of the business outside of it. He has the large depot hotel, with over 60 rooms, the New American, with 34 rooms, and he rents 20 over Stevens' and 10 over Duran's store. He is now trying to get Mr. Brickell to build another hotel with 40 rooms, and offers to lease it for 10 or 20 years.

A Car-Porter Who Was Out and Injured.

A sleeping-car porter who traveled over 650 miles with 10 passengers worth over $3,000,000 each says his perquisites amounted to but 50 cents. A short time ago a party of Bostonians came over the Central Pacific bound for California. When the porter brushed them up and put them in order for landing, each one slipped a piece of money into the porter's hand, which he put in his pocket without examining. He was completely loaded down with what he supposed were halves and $5 gold pieces—but on examining his pile he discovered them to be copper cent pieces.

A Promising Pupul.

Kitty-Biggs, a seventeen-year-old Reno girl, has a most superior voice, and one likely to make her famous. It is a clear, soprano of wide range, and she handles it well. She has awakened the interest of Mother Dolores, who is trying to put her in the way of a musical education. Her father is dead, and her mother not able to give the advantages her talents deserve. She is of a very unassuming and gentle disposition, and it would be an honor to some rich man to give her an education.

The Reno Shooters.

The Reno marksmen have made up a shooting team, of 14 men and sent east for regulation Springfield hammerless rifles for each member. The boys intend to practice daily, and as the material is good, the other rifle teams throughout the State will have to keep their eye on the bullseye unless they want the Reno team to win all the medals.

A LIVE BUSINESS.

What the Truckee Lumber Company is Doing.

Both sides of the Truckee Lumber Company's mill is now running, and in a few days, or as soon as occasion requires, they will put on a night shift. They now have 3,000, 000 feet of logs in the river. They now have all their camps in the woods started and are putting an average of 100,000 feet of logs in the river daily. They have just taken a contract to build an addition to the Ogden Hotel, which they built last season. The work is being done by the branch factory at Salt Lake. The demand for fruit and packing boxes is lively at the present time. At their depot in San Francisco they employ 50 men and boys nailing up boxes, and four delivery teams are kept busy from morning till night. Three weeks ago they put in a Swift box nailer, which will nail up as many boxes as seven good men can trim. It is one of the best of the many labor-saving machines adopted by the company. A large quantity of lumber is now shipped to Daggett, in San Bernardino county. This information is obtained from the Republican.

How Indians Make Flint Arrow-Heads.

The Black Range, a paper published at Chloride, New Mexico, tells how the Indians make the flint arrow-heads. The flint is first heated in a fire. Then the Indian manufacturer takes the red-hot rock in one hand and a piece of wet buckskin in the other and brings the two articles in contact. Wherever the cold buckskin lightly touches the hot flint a chip of the rock flies off, dividing on its natural cleavage. As the buckskin touches so the division is made, and thus by repeated intelligent touches the form desired is obtained. The most skill is displayed upon the neck, which must be manipulated carefully.

Grand Lodge of Masons.

The Grand Lodge of F. and A. M. elected officers yesterday for the ensuing Masonic year, as follows: A. Nichols, of Austin, Grand Master; L. Fitzgerald of Eureka, Deputy Grand Master; Albert Hires, of Virginia, Senior Grand Warder; H. Nemery of Gold Hill, Junior Grand Warder; J. E. Eckley, of Virginia, Grand Treasurer; J. D. Hammond, of Carson, Grand Secretary. The installation ceremony took place to-day and the Grand Lodge adjourned sine die. The session was a pleasant one but not very important.

Truckee Notes.

Scraps of Interest From a Section of Our Lumber Country.

The following items were clipped from the Republican of June 13th: Good fishing at Donner lake. Hon. Stephen J. Field has been rusticated for the past few days at Tahoe.

Messrs Goulden and Stilliker are making extensive improvements at Donner Lake.

Johnson is the favorite in the go-as-you-please, which comes off at Harriman & Chapman's Arena on the 3d and 4th of July, and if outsiders can beat him they can clean up the Truckee boys for what little spare money they can raise.

Mrs. G. Q. Buxton, while on her way home from a visit to Truckee, went in by the way of Independence lake. Sunday last she went out on the lake and caught 17 fine trout in an hour and a half. A 10-year-old boy with her yanked out 12 in the same time, none of which were less than a foot long.

An Aged Mother Gone Before.

Mrs. Margaret Gloster, the aged mother of D. M. Gloster, died recently at her son's residence at Loyalton, she having lived to the ripe age of 80 years.

A Rain Storm.

A heavy rain fell yesterday about Peavine, reaching this way to the Emma mine. Hall fell at the Bragg & Schooling saw-mill in Long Valley.

The 19th rehearsal of the Department of Music of Bishop Whitaker's School for Girls will take place at the Nevada Theater on Thursday evening, June 20. HOW TO SAVE BIG CONNISHIONS.

An Ohio Man Who Wants Nevada Business.

Almost all the furniture used in Nevada comes from the eastern states. If it is not made there the walnut or other hard wood used in its manufacture is shipped to San Francisco, made up there and sent back over the mountains. There is no doubt but that dealers in California make a nice profit that might be saved. Nevada houses are full of fine furniture, for it takes good wood and strong joints to stand this dry climate. This trade is being looked after by eastern dealers. The Robert Mitchell Furniture Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, has just issued an elegant catalogue of over 300 pages, handsomely illustrated with pictures of the things in stock. Their prices are low and their goods as fine as any made. The catalogue cost over a dollar to print, but they send it to anybody needing one for 50 cents. It might be well for Nevada people to give them a trial.

TRUCKEE NOTES.

Scraps of Interest From a Section of Our Lumber Country.

The following items were clipped from the Republican of June 13th: Good fishing at Donner lake. Hon. Stephen J. Field has been rusticated for the past few days at Tahoe.

Messrs Goulden and Stilliker are making extensive improvements at Donner Lake.

Johnson is the favorite in the go-as-you-please, which comes off at Harriman & Chapman's Arena on the 3d and 4th of July, and if outsiders can beat him they can clean up the Truckee boys for what little spare money they can raise.

A heavy rain fell yesterday about Peavine, reaching this way to the Emma mine. Hall fell at the Bragg & Schooling saw-mill in Long Valley.

Sent up for Ninety Days.

Judge Young yesterday sentenced C. W. Wilton to ninety days in the county jail for making use of the name of H. L. W. Knox of the Lake House, for the purpose of obtaining ten dollars' worth of goods of A. J. Clark. The young man may thank his lucky star that the charge was reduced to "obtaining goods under false pretenses." Through a small loophole he dodged the charge of forgery.

Don't Like the Place.

Professor King, formerly of Reno, Virginia and Bodie, is up in Seattle. He does not like the place at all. Wages are very low. Musicians play all night at a ball for $2 50 each and are glad to get that. Everything is cheap, and the country is overrun with men without money. King wants to come home.

Thrown Out of a Buggy.

P. J. Toll and a little boy were considerably injured yesterday by the upsetting of a buggy they were riding in. The boy was quite seriously hurt, and is under the care of Dr. Bergman.

Road Building.

J. Abbe has the contract for building the road from Verdi down to the new bridge over the Truckee. He will use his patent scraper, which beats the record.

The choruses will be rendered by other members of the department and Miss Quailfe's Glee Club.

A heavy rain fell yesterday about Peavine, reaching this way to the Emma mine. Hall fell at the Bragg & Schooling saw-mill in Long Valley.

A large quantity of lumber is going east, most of it being shipped by the Truckee Lumber Company.

Frank Perkins is now the owner of the running horse Cousin Vic, having purchased him from M. C. Lake for $300.

The up passenger train on the V. & T. yesterday morning was delayed on account of a cave in the Gold Hill tunnel.

Throwing paper in the streets is a reprehensible practice. Horses become frightened and lives are endangered by flying kites.

Kate Greenaway costumes are quite numerous on the streets now. They are very stylish and pretty for young ladies and girls.

There were a large number of responsible looking men at the depot this morning, there being three express trains in at one time.

Mrs. Alt's party was largely attended last night, and a good time was had. The prizes were awarded to little Maud Stanaway and Bert Budden.

Knowles & Bainbridge call particular attention to their excellent assortment of household wares, comprising everything in the way of domestic material.

Several Reno Knights Templar leave for Susanville to-morrow morning. It is said that they go to see George Cunningham climb the greasy pole to the precincts of Knighthood.

A Lindley & Co. have an immense stock of goods on the move all the time. The store is always full of customers, but there are always clerks enough to wait upon ever who come.

F. Levy & Bro. will probably enlarge their store in a short time. Their business requires them to keep a large stock of dry goods on hand, and they must have room in which to display them.

Old settlers say that they can hardly remember a year when there was so little snow on the hills as at this time. The result will be a lack of water in the streams. The Truckee is now running full, but will probably begin to shrink very soon.

The passengers on the west-bound express this morning congratulated themselves at the opportunity of crossing the mountains by daylight. The privilege of viewing the beautiful scenery is worth a good portion of their fare.

The newly discovered gold mines in Lower California are being rapidly deserted by the prospectors who recently went there. But the White House is not deserted. On the contrary, it is full of customers waiting for Abrams Bros. to fit them out with fine clothes.

The wind last evening was a terror to weak eyes. It seemed to blow at right angles, stirring up clouds of dust, and half-blinding pedestrians. It was to be expected, after the hot weather we have had. The air in the valley became heated, and the cold air from the mountains rushed in to take its place.

The train that should have arrived here last evening did not get here until 6 o'clock this morning. The delay was caused by a freight train, led by engine No. 90, that got derailed at Rose creek, about 11 miles this side of Winnemucca. The damage done was principally confined to getting the cars on the track again.

J. J. M. Free, Penryn, Placer county, Cal., is one of the heaviest fruit growers of that section. He pays particular attention to shipping fruit and vegetables to dealers in this county. Read his advertisement and send him an order. His prices are low and products of the finest quality.

Maylert & Hughes' stage took out as passengers to-day, J. D. Goodwin, for Quincy; L. P. Whitting and Mrs. Nye and son, for Millford; Eddie Dougan, a little mite, for Janesville. The little mite is a very bright lad. He has, since last Fall, been at the school for the deaf and dumb at Berkeley, Cal.

Enterprise creates business. Chelovich & Co. know this, and have pushed their business with energy and capital. In this way they have succeeded in building up a trade that would do credit to a much larger town than Reno. If you want anything in the wine and liquor line, call at the Wine House.

It health generally comes from lack of the proper life force in the blood. To restore the blood to a healthy state use Brown's Iron Bitters.

A CARD.

To the Citizens of Reno:

I HAVE BEEN A RESIDENT OF your town for three years, and, outside of my own business, have not seen a decent pair of boots that were made here. In order, therefore, to extend to everyone facilities for obtaining really first-class boots and shoes, I have sent to San Francisco for two A. No. 1 mechanics, the best to be found in the country, and will run (as heretofore) a prime, first-class shop. The enlargement of my stock and facilities will entail heavy extra expense, and I look and trust, therefore, to Reno's citizens and the people generally who are desirous of obtaining the very best of workmanship, to aid me with their increased patronage. First-class material, first-class workmanship and first-class work at a saving rate is the motto on my coat-of-arms.
